

The Shooting Star

Snapping Stalk Saves Café!

By Isla Thompson

Baked Beanstalk Sprouts Suddenly

Yesterday, Jack Brown (aged 9) and his mum, Laura, (29) opened their famous fast food place- near their beloved house, The Old Cottage- the famous 'Harmonious Harp'. They made it public after the tragic disaster on Tuesday, following Jack swapping the families last precious remaining pennies for some enchanting magic beans. Jack's Fast Food has been very loved and very popular over the years, until the strict city council decided to construct an immense overpass. The road that the café rested on was closed down. But that did not stop the builders going to have breakfast and lunch and dinner at the food van and buying the luxurious food. Jack stated that he and Laura were kept extremely active dishing up hundreds of plates of sausages and eggs and bacon and brewing countless cups of tea and coffee. Laura reported they were kept busy all day and all night.

One evening Laura told Jack to go and buy milk and coffee beans. He came across an ancient man, who beckoned him over. The old man gave him a strange deal. Jack for some magic beans. Jack ran home with the beans in his palm. Laura hurled them out the window. Jack reported that he was sent to bed with no supper. He woke up early and was surprised to see a colossal green plant. Curious as ever, he started to scale the immense beanstalk, soon disappearing with his dog Bella high into the clouds.

Jack stated "Well, old Billy, (that is the giant's name) he was so lonely up there. Me myself, well, I was not too delighted to see the overpass crash, but it did bring back our customers, so I am not too bothered. As a bonus, Billy is a brilliant chef, so I am very happy in the way it turned out."

The destruction is cleared from the smashed overpass, and it is not particularly likely that the council will fork out for a new one. Plus, the Harmonious Harp is the winner of the Global Business Prize!

The Harmonious Harp Wins BIG!!!